Welcome to Securipol News

This is the first issue of a newsletter that will be distributed to all our customers and available on our website, with articles on security matters as they affect you, the client, and the next issues will be offering a security tip in each issue to help raise awareness of areas where the individual can help in keeping the workplace safer.

New upgraded call centre at Securipol

Following a recent upgrade to the facilities and services at our call centre based in Wallingford, we thought it would be a good time to share with you the results and also to demonstrate the full range of security services that Securipol can offer.

“This newly upgraded call centre facility is an exciting opportunity to expand the scope of security services we can offer to our clients”

Ray Tolley, Managing Director

We often find that our clients benefit from a review of their services; technological advances can sometimes really add strength to security arrangements.

Have a look at the range of services we offer, listed on the left. We believe that Securipol Limited are the only local company able to offer such a broad range of services as well as the personal touch that comes from being based in your own community.

Remember –
